

David Shamlin

Director, Supply Chain Operations

David is a supply chain professional with more than 30 years of supply chain experience with 20 years of it in healthcare. His areas of expertise include: process design, operations management, strategic planning, sourcing and contracting, and client management.

As Director of Supply Chain Operations with TPC, David is responsible for managing operational collaboration between TPC, Members, and our GPO Partner for Supply Chain. His role also includes management and oversight of TPC Supply Chain contracting portfolio, including sourcing, contract management, operations and business analytics.

David received his bachelor of the arts in supply chain management from the University of Houston. He also holds a Certified Materials & Resource Professional (CMRP) Certification through the Association for Healthcare Resource & Materials Management (AHRMM).